EarthEvents founder and director Colleen Read presents Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo with the Tiki of Happiness" after his victory over Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre in the Mayors' Kayak Chailenge

So how often do you get to take home the "Tiki of Happiness?"

Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo did Saturday night after narrowly defeating Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre in the first annual Mayor's Kayak Challenge.

The event took place in Bay St. Louis near the Washington Street Pier Saturday, during the "Celebrate Da Bay Day" sponsored by the non-profit EarthEvents and Da Beach

The day began with a beach cleanup, and included all-day ocean kayak demonstrations, rides and races; a blessing of the Bay of St. Louis; and a moon-light kayak ride.

EarthEvents founder and director Colleen Read said the mayor's challenge will be expanded next year - the mayors of Biloxi and Gulfport will be invited.

ten into the book of life. We were headed to Columbus and the Mississippi School for Math and Science, (MSMS). My 16-year-old son had been accepted, and this was check-in day for the residential school some four hours away on the campus of MUW. He had worked hard to achieve this goal. Studying, testing and interviewing, and knowing all along it would bring big changes in his life. still he persisted. Leaving the innovative and rigorous. comfort of home and friends for designed to emphasize the his junior and senior years of high school, sharing a room, with another person, basically going to college two years ahead of schedule. So here we were, the family and most of my son's belongings all piled into our vehicle. What had seemed like a distant event was here much too soon. Reality was beginning to settle in. At least on Mom and me. Evervone else was asleep.

As we drove along, the radio locked in on a station playing the top 20 songs from 1968. How ironic, I was 16 that year. As the miles fell away, so did the years.

It was a trip down memory lane. The family car had suddenly transformed itself into a metallic blue, 1965 Ford Mustang, my first true love. To be 16 again; first dates, first cars, the whole world to explore, anything is possible. No worries, no cares, just fun, fun, fun!

I had left home almost streaked through immediately after finishing high school to work at a newspaper hundreds of miles and several hours away from my parents. I was beginning to understand how they must have felt. Then we were there. My son slept the entire way. No lastminute sage advice from old Dad, just a nudge to wake him.

MSMS was established in 1987 and is the nation's fourth state, public, residential high school for gifted and academically able 11th and 12th grade students. Funded by legislative appropriation, there are no charges for room, board or tuition.

Approximately 270 students, representing all geographic areas of the state attend the school each year.

The school's curriculum is mathematics and sciences, but allows room to explore computer science, literature, social "studies, music and the arts.

MSMS has partnerships with Mississippi State University, the Mississippi University for Women, John C. Stennis Space Center and others, allowing students numerous educational advantages.

The school is a great opportunity to the students of this state.

It opens doors to the finest universities, colleges and graduate/professional schools in America.

For information on admissions, you may write the school at: MSMS Office of Admissions. P.O. Box W-1627, Columbus, MS 39701 or call 1-800-553-,6459 for more information.

them of the two tests. The letter at the school had been tested indicated that the two faucets were utility faucets and not used for drinking water, and that they had both been replaced and retested, with one of the faucets still indicating an unacceptable lead level.

The letter went on to say that the district was working with the health department to ascertain the source of the contamination. On Wednesday, Terrell said that as far as he knew, the water at the school was fine now and the school would not be offering bottled water to students.

"We are in the process of doing more extensive testing," said Terrell. "We are testing all the faucets both inside and out." Terrell said that the well and that the results did not indicate any problems.

Deerwood resident Wade Hampton said he was concerned for the safety of his grandchildren, who attend the school. "Why haven't we been kept informed about high lead levels at the school and where are all the results of each test that was done," said Hampton. "Officials told us last October that our water was fine."

 \mathbf{A}^{\cdot} document called Lead/Copper Water Quality Analysis dated October 2000 from the Mississippi State Department of Health Division of Water Supply indicates that tests were carried out then by Monroe Necaise, also showing the faucets at the school.

During that same time, stories began circulating among residents of the DeLisle community that perhaps the nearby DuPont plant could be polluting area water. A meeting was held at the school at that time to discuss concerns. Both Terrell and DuPont plant manager Aldo Morell were present to answer questions.

Deerwood-resident Billy Stewart presented tests at the meeting showing the level in his home's water to be over seven times the acceptable level. Two other Deerwood residents said that their doctors had told them their children were suffering from chemical poisoning and should not drink unacceptable levels of lead from the water from the school's Continued from Page 1

DuPont and the district said at that time that they would help residents get their water tested and the school made bottled water available to students.

Tests were taken later from six DeLisle sites. A report issued by the state Chemical Laboratory in Starksville indicated that only lead and arsenic were present in the samples, both in acceptable levels for drinking water.

has had several complaints from beach property owners, who think the higher intensity lighting is not needed and . At the Board's July meeting, affects the tranquil atmosphere of the neighborhood.

One resident has already written a letter to the Echo charging, "the powerful new lights proposed will change a peaceful small-town roadway into any ugly urban dragstrip."

At the request of supervisors Lisa Cowand and Steve Seymour, Mississippi Power had already installed five 250-sodium lights at the Garner-Ladner Pier at the foot of Coleman Avenue in Waveland. Mississippi Power offered to increase the number of lights on Beach Boulevard from the present 54 to 73 lights, stretching from Coleman Avenue to Washington Street in Bay St. Louis. The county would pick up the additional monthly electricity cost. Cowand said she visited the area late last Sunday night, and Mississippi Power had watt, interstate, thigh-pressure made some adjustments. She said the lights were now more directly beamed away from the sand beach area and more directly on to the roadway, and "didn't seem to be too bright."

But, she said Mississippi Power has halted further installation, and she wants to 'reassess the situation."

"There's as many people in favor as there are against," said Cowand.

One compromise suggested to decrease the intensity of the

Lean mfg. conference planned

Mississippi manufacturers can learn ways to reduce waste and increase productivity in their plants and tour lean manufacturing companies during a Sept. 10 to 12 conference in Starkville.

The Mississippi State University Extension Service is sponsoring the 2001 Lean Manufacturing Conference through the Food and Fiber Center in cooperation with Forest Products Laboratory. Registration fees are $295 through Aug. 24, and $325 after that date.

"Lean manufacturing involves using processes that allow you to produce more with less – less effort, less raw materials, less space and less said Duane waste," Motsenbocker, conference man-

"Manufacturers will hear firsthand from production managers and international consultants experienced in the real-world implementation of lean processes."

The conference will begin Sept. 10 with participants tour-ing either Delphi and Mercedes-Benz in Tuscaloosa or Viking Range in Greenwood.

Days two and three of the conference will be held in the Bost Conference Center at MSU with two sessions in the Forest Products Laboratory. Lunches, breaks and a reception are provided.

Conference topics include cost and performance measurement, creating continuous flow, value stream mapping and supply chain integration. A manufacturers panel will discuss their experiences in lean implementation.

Congress offers disaster relief

The U.S. Senate has approved legislation that provides $5.5 billion in immediate disaster assistance for farmers, Senator Thad Cochran (R-MS) announced.

The bill includes $4.6 billion in Market Loss Assistance payments, along with $900 million in assistance for soybean and specialty crop producers.

The bill will now go to the President for his signature. Farmers can expect to receive their Market Loss Assistance, payments prior to Sept. 30.

Leoni, local artist, refuses to be 'pigeon-holed'

SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Tucked away near Bayou La Croix in a little redwood cabin on stilts, Paula and Pete Leoni have created a little world of their own making.

. "We met at a party at a mutual friend's house about four years ago, spent the evening talking on the porch, and have been doing our things at our little house in the swamp ever since," said Paula.

The rural setting of the cabin allows Paula the freedom to fully indulge her lifelong interest in aviculture, the raising of birds. She combines her love with artistic expression, creating paintings of local and exotic birds which have been displayed both in museums and on magazine covers.

This Saturday, Paula's two passions will be the subject of a show, Wings, at The Loft Studios, where she will display not only her paintings, but many of her current collection of come variety which frequent look to their gait. rare domestic pigeons, which many city landscapes. NGA Hooters Tour-Casino Magic Classic won by South Carolina's Joey Maxon

Joey Maxon of Columbia, S. C. held off Michael Flynn of Ft. Golf Association Hooters Tour Worth, Texas and Tropical event held at The Bridges Golf Storm Barry to win the NGA Resort in Bay St. Louis. Tour-Casino Magic Classic on Sunday.

Maxon's 17 under par total of 271, gave him a two-stroke victory over Flynn and the $22,000 first prize check. A total of Awards List - $125,000 Fund $125,000 was awarded to 62 places. Tied with Flynn on the 18th hole, Maxon felt like he hit the most important golf shot of his career when he went for the water-guarded par 5 18th green $11,000.00 in two. Two-putting for birdie clinched the tournament, when Tuscaloosa, AL 67 68 73 68 Flynn's 25-ft. birdie opportunity went well past the hole.

O'Keefe of Louisville, Ky., placed 7th with a score of 279. Gary Martin of Gulfport placed from members of the areas Booster Club, Hancock County's Board of Supervisors agreed to set up a meeting sometime in the near future with members of the Hancock County School District.

At Monday's Board of Supervisors meeting, Peggy Ladner again led the charge to the now-dilapidated football field at Hancock North Central Elementary School, where the Kiln native and Greenbay quarterback started out his football career.

Ladner had appealed to supervisors for help at its July recessed meeting, and said because she was a member of the School Board, the Echo incorrectly reported she was representing the school board.
